

schools and hospitals; they visited Salt Lake City's Temple Square and met with religious and government leaders. The strong cultural and political relationship between Utah and Japan has its roots in the positive impression that the Japanese gave Utah, and the Utahns gave Japan.

Mr. Speaker, as the world grows closer and closer together, it is my hope that the relationship between the United States and Japan will continue to be strengthened. As the world visits upon Utah during the 2002 Olympic Games, I cannot help thinking that we are not only improving our relationship with the Japanese, but also building new friendships with other nations of the world. The Games thus far have been a tremendous success. It is my hope that in the months and years to come, people from throughout the world will come to Utah to visit, to study, to work, and perhaps to stay. Thank you Mr. Speaker.

TRIBUTE TO MOIRA ANN (REDDY) SMITH

HON. ROBERT A. BORSKI

OF PENNSYLVANIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, February 14, 2002

Mr. BORSKI. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor a young woman who gave her life to save others on September 11, 2001 at the World Trade Center in New York City, Moira Ann (Reddy) Smith. Moira Ann (Reddy) Smith, age 38, was a New York City Police Officer, a 13-year veteran assigned to the 13th precinct, when she was killed while assisting victims of the terrorist attacks on our nation.

When the initial plane carrying the terrorists hit the World Trade Center Tower, Moira Smith was the first officer to call in the incident and one of the first on the scene. She took statements from witnesses and then rushed back to the towers to assist with the evacuation of civilians from the burning towers. Survivors from the WTC and fellow officers gave accounts of having seen Officer Moira Smith rescue and assist victims from the tower. She was credited as having ushered out of the building hundreds of civilians and remaining calm and compassionate, yet forceful when directing the scared masses. She was last seen in the stairwell of the burning tower, assisting down the stairs, a woman who was having trouble breathing.

Just minutes before her death, Moira Smith was photographed in action, while she led a blood-splattered, wounded man out of harm's way. The New York Daily News later published the photo evidencing Moira Smith's bravery, selflessness, heroism and professionalism.

Moira Smith was the only female New York City Police Department officer to die in the September 11th attacks and the first female New York City Police Officer to die in the line of duty in the history of the NYPD. She leaves behind her husband, James and daughter, Patricia Mary, age two.

Mr. Speaker, for this valiant effort and her great sacrifice, the House of Representatives honors Moira Smith today, February 14, 2002, a day that would have been her 39th birthday. Her sacrifice will always be remembered by the people of America.

BIPARTISAN CAMPAIGN REFORM
ACT OF 2001

SPEECH OF

HON. GREGORY W. MEEKS

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, February 13, 2002

The House in Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union had under consideration the bill (H.R. 2356) to amend the Federal Election Campaign Act of 1971 to provide bipartisan campaign reform:

Mr. MEEKS of New York. Mr. Chairman, I stand here today in support of H.R. 2356, the Bi-Partisan Campaign Finance Reform Act.

Over time, Americans have become a group very skeptical of politics, pleading for reform—reform that would enable them to participate in the political process. While there are many opinions on how to fix our system, what is clear is that Americans need reassurance that they have a voice in our political process. A perfect illustration may be that which has become a major headline in today's news—Enron. I am not advocating that if campaign finance had already been implemented the Enron debacle may not have occurred, but I will say that the recent collapse of Enron has only further illustrated the extent of corporations' political spending and furthered people's cynicism about big money and politics. Today, I am glad to say after a long fight, we are able to offer the American people an opportunity to once again become involved in a political system that promises a vote and voice for everyone.

H.R. 2356 takes so many steps to improve the current political process. It invites all American voters to participate in the political system by completely banning soft money contributions to the national political parties, prohibits federal officeholders and candidates from soliciting soft money in connection with Federal elections, and requires state and local parties to spend hard money on activities that influence federal elections. Not only does this legislation stop the ever increasing and powerful flow of money, but it also reins in sham issue ads by requiring hard money for broadcast communications that mention a Federal candidate within sixty days of a general election or thirty days of a primary and are targeted in the candidate's electorate, among other provisions—such as allowing state parties to use funds to conduct voter registration and get-out-the-vote efforts. Finally, we, those who are chosen to represent the American people, are able to offer the American voters a reform bill that strengthens our nation and allows all its citizens to actively participate.

Now that we have made considerable steps in providing all Americans with an opportunity to participate in the political process, no matter their income, it is important that we continue this fight for the right of all Americans to have a guaranteed protected vote. Americans must be reassured that what occurred in the 2000 elections will not occur again. Not only will they have an opportunity to actively participate in the election process, but also a right to have their voices heard when it is time to cast their votes. Mr. Chairman, reforming our campaign laws is an important step toward renewing people's belief in our American system and now we must continue this fight and ensure them that their right to vote is just as great.

During this vote on final passage of H.R. 2356, we, my colleagues, have an opportunity to inevitably shape the course that we follow as a nation. Now is the time to make change, now is the time to offer opportunity, now is the time to engage those who have been disengaged for far too long. Remember, when people go to the poles, they cast one vote, when we vote on the House floor, we vote for all those we represent. My dear colleagues, I urge you to represent them now, represent all those who are so often unheard, let them know they soon can and will be heard—today, tomorrow, and forever. I urge my colleagues to support final passage of H.R. 2356, the Bi-Partisan Campaign Finance Reform Act.

A TRIBUTE TO A YOUNG HERO,
WILBERT GILLASPIE

HON. JIM TURNER

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, February 14, 2002

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to acknowledge the heroic deeds of a young hero from Walker County, Texas, who displayed enormous courage and capability in the face of danger.

Wilbert Gillaspie, a 4th grader at Stewart Elementary School in the Huntsville School District, saved himself and his elderly grandmother from a burning fire that might have destroyed his home had it not been for his quick thinking.

On Sunday, January 13, Wilbert noticed smoke coming from an electrical ceiling box where his uncle was planning to put a ceiling fan. After seeing the smoke, Wilbert led his grandmother out of the building and called 911. Wilbert helped the emergency dispatcher find out what electric company serviced his home so the power could be shut off. When Wilbert noticed smoke coming from his roof, he grabbed a water hose and sprayed the roof from the outside.

Because of the distance between Wilbert's home and the Huntsville fire station, it took firefighters nine critical minutes to get to his house. Wilbert was told by a firefighter on the scene that if it had not been for his quick thinking and know-how, the house would have burned to the ground.

Wilbert learned about fire safety from members of the Huntsville Fire Department, who teach thousands of children and adults about fire safety every year. I commend the hard-working men and women of the Huntsville Fire Department for sacrificing their lives everyday and serving as community leaders to teach our children about fire safety.

Young Wilbert Gillaspie is a true hero and we join in thanking him for his courage and bravery in the face of danger.
